Since women are not given the proper healthcare once inside prisons, their health is often neglected. Free to Learn: Why Unleashing the Instinct to. For children who live with a chronic illness, each day is filled with endless treatments, painful symptoms, confusion, and embarrassment. Because we live in a patriarchal society, women are viewed as objects for intercourse, and their issues are not taken as severely as we would that of males. Without support from the community, women under these circumstances tend to
